DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Species I, Figure 1, drawn to claims 1 and 11 through 14, in the reply filed on December 22, 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the examination of claims 1-20 together would not provide a serious burden on the examiner, and, as set forth on page 3, lines 5 through 9 of applicant's remarks, "In fact, independent claims 1, 2, 5, 7, 15, 17, 19 and 20 recite a majority of common features and thus examination of one independent claim necessarily includes to some extent examination of the other independent claims." This is not found persuasive because there may be a patentable distinction between the species as claimed. Some species require multiple connectors over a single connector or multiple power sources working with a plurality of projectors over a single power source working with a single projector. A plurality of elements can require a separate classification, and a separate status in the art where they are classifiable together. Limitations drawn to the details of the interface(s) and connector(s) may require a different field of search. The examiner may also be required to apply a multiplicity of references to address all of the claims even if the references are found classified together in the same art.

The examiner asserts that the Election of Species requirement set forth in the office action of November 22, 2004 is proper and no further explanation was required at that time for the restriction requirement given.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 2 through 10 and 15 through 20 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on December 22, 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 11 through 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Vanderwilt et al. U.S. Patent 6,693,661 B1.

See Figures 1 and 3, for example.

Claim 1 sets forth: "A projector comprising (See video conferencing system 100):

an optical engine which projects an image based on a video signal (See column 3, lines 30 through 40.);

a circuit section which controls operation of said optical engine (See column 3, lines 41 through 65.);

a power source which supplies electric power to said circuit section (See column 3, lines 56 through 65.);

a network interface, through which said circuit section communicates with a remote network terminal device (Network Interface 126); and a hub (network hub 128) which is connected to said network interface, said hub said network interface being connected to said including ports, remote network terminal device through one of said ports, electric power from said power source being supplied to said hub." Also see column 3, lines 66 and 67, and column 4, lines 1 through 22.

Claim 11 sets forth: "The projector according to claim 1, wherein said circuit image regarding section causes said optical engine to project an information of said remote network terminal device connected to said hub." See video monitor 110, PC 132 and LAN 130.

Claim 12 sets forth: "The projector according to claim 1, wherein said circuit section causes said optical engine to project an image based on a video signal input to said circuit section." Again refer to column lines 56 through 65 wherein details of ISDN interface 122 and ISDN lines 108 providing an electrical connection to VCU 102 are given.

Claim 13 sets forth: "The projector according to claim 1, further comprising an operating section, through which an operator inputs to said circuit section a command for selecting a video signal to be projected from video signals input to said ports of said hub." See user controls 134. Also see column 4, lines 23 through 40.

Claim 14 sets forth: "The projector according to claim 1, wherein said hub is a switching hub." See column 4, lines 5 through 8.
